City of Griswold

October 2015

Water Tower

The tower is in the middle of being cleaned and painted. There are currently three fire hydrants that have blow-offs and black tubing with water flowing. These are set up to help protect our water system from any fluctuations in our water system. The water tower is scheduled to be out of operation for the next several weeks

Fall Clean-up

The City is trying to organize a Fall Clean-up day. The tentative date is November 14th, the Creighton University Alpha Pi Omega is scheduled to come to town and help with some community service. We will be looking to clean and treat the Wooden Park, City Park, and the plantings along Main Street. If you have a service group looking for community service hours, please call City Hall.

October 12th City Council

Halloween hours and lifting the burn ban will be on the next agenda for the Mayor and City Council to discuss. A public hearing for a budget amendment is also scheduled.

Community Building Improvements

The City is taking sealed bids for a Shelleyglas steam table. For more information, please stop in to City Hall or call 712-778-2615.

City Elections– November 3rd

City Elections will be November 3rd at City Hall. No one filed to run for Mayor. The position will come down to a write-in vote. Ryan Askeland, Lisa Cook, and Carmen Sorensen, are running for three open seats on the City Council. Voters in will also be asked to decide on Public Measure C, which asks if the City should change the Mayor's term from a two-year term to a four-year term.
